CMS-Funded Technical Assistance Programs

QIN-QIO SOW: Health Quality Innovators Network (HQIN)

This community-focused program is led by KHC in partnership with Virginia-based Health Quality Innovators (HQI) and its multi-state collaborative, providing technical assistance and evidence-based interventions.

Program Goals:

- Improve behavioral health outcomes-focusing on decreased opioid misuse
- Increase patient safety
- Increase Chronic Disease Self-Management (cardiac health, diabetes, and preventing or slowing ESRD)
- Increase quality of care transitions

Benefits for Clinics, Hospitals, and Community Partners:

- Support and coordination from HQI, KHC, state partners, collaborators, and stakeholders
- Access to resources, webinars, educational opportunities, networking, clinical improvement consultants and subject matter experts who can assist with improvement questions, data interpretation and provide recommendations on strategic actions to positively impact performance related to the program goals
- Access to toolkits, change packages, and other resources to support improvement goals

Other Technical Assistance Programs

KHC Clinic Assistance Program

KHC provides in-person and virtual technical assistance to small and/or rural practices with a need for resources, education and mentoring. KHC staff will help educate and empower the clinic staff by assessing the immediate needs for education, training, and resources so that the clinic may sustain operations and comply with state and federal conditions of participation. Assistance is customized to meet the unique clinic needs.

Benefits for Clinics:

- Access to subject matter experts who can provide expertise and resources to practices in need
- Access to KHC's virtual Lunch and Learn Educational Series
- Opportunities to network with other leaders of small and/or rural practices in Kansas
- Access to grant funding through the KHC CAP Mini-Grant, available to practices actively engaged in the KHC CAP Program and its services
